Message from Mrs Williams

Dance with the experts

As part of our Arts Mark Gold project, Year 3 and 5 had choreographer Johnny, come to Fairway to teach them some moves. The children looked at moving in different ways, with a focus on their positioning when moving and dancing. Also, the children played a game where they had to move as if they were in a TV and made to dance like they were being controlled with a remote.

Reception in PE

Reception are loving our weekly PE sessions with Coach Justine. The children have developed both in skill and confidence. We have just introduced racket skills in preparation for playing tennis and our Sports Day in the Summer Term. We have some incredibly talented pupils.

Dress a Door

To further promote reading at Fairway, we have been using our environment as a platform to share a love of reading and encourage our pupils to be curious about a range of books. One way we have done this is dressing our classroom doors to represent books the children are reading in their class or using as part of their topic.

Book Review

I love colouring in and find it very relaxing, so when it came to dressing up for World Book Day, it was a no-brainer. Red Crayon is definitely the most hard working crayon, never having a break. Even at Christmas, colouring in all those Santa's is exhausting. This is a book that I discovered when reading to my daughter, Isabella. The Day the Crayons Quit by Drew Daywatt. This lively and imaginative story will have you laughing and colouring in a way you have never coloured before.

Such hard work being Red Crayon at Fairway!

Policy Update

Our new policy Separated Parents is available on the school website and sets out Fairway Primary Academy's approach to supporting parents that are separated.
