Value of the Month

Creativity

Message from Mrs Williams

I hope that the home learning is continuing and well. It has also been nice to see on twitter other learning that is taking place in the homes that teachers haven't set. We have some very creative children. What a great opportunity to learn a new skill or craft. I am starting to put together my own scrap book about the last few months; what has been happening and what I have experienced as a Headteacher and mum! I look forward to sharing snippets with the children when we return.

We continue to provide provision for those children that are eligible and the numbers remain stable. We are currently in the process of reviewing our risk assessments and current provision so that we can provide as much as we can while still taking into account the guidance from the Depart for Education.

Thank you for continuing to read these newsletters. Have a good weekend and lets hope the weather is less wet for Fathers Day.

Take care and stay safe.

RSE (relationship and Sex Education) update

As part of our school improvement plan and in line with new government legislation we have been reviewing our Relationship and Sex Education programme of study. As part of this process we planned to invite parents to be part of a consultation process regarding the provision. However, due to COVID19 we are now moving this to the autumn term in light of the government giving schools until the summer term 2021 to do this.

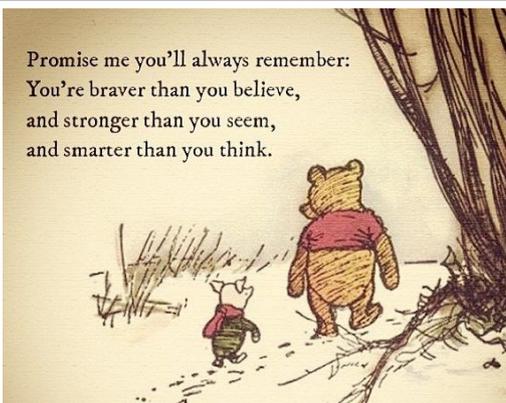

There will be further information out next academic year.

Oak National Academy

If you have not had chance to explore the Oak National Academy, this is a fantastic resource of online teaching. I have just sat with a group of children watching an assembly about kindness led by the Duchess of Cambridge. To access follow the link

World Book Day Sponsored Read

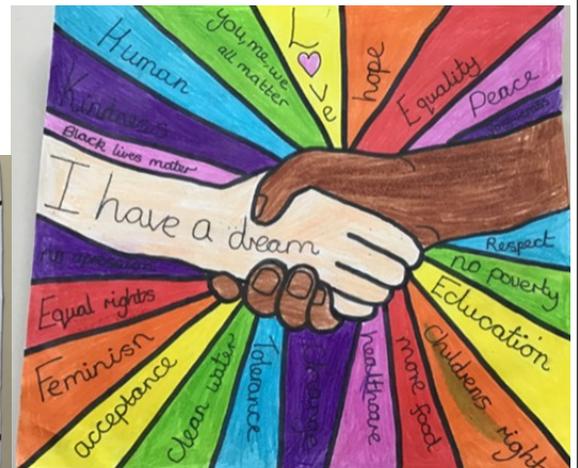

It seems a long time ago, but as part of celebrating World Book Day in March we held a sponsored read. We are pleased to tell you that a mighty sum of £229 was raised. This means that we get an extra percentage added on by Usborne books so that we have £250 to spend on new topic books. Well done to all the children that took part and to their families who supported them. A special thankyou also to Mrs Fasham who organised the event.
